

Abstract of the Disclosure

In a semiconductor device having a MEMS according to this invention, a plurality of units having movable portions for constituting a MEMS are monolithically mounted on a semiconductor substrate on 5 which an integrated circuit including a driving circuit, sensor circuit, memory, and processor is formed. Each unit has a processor, memory, driving circuit, and sensor circuit.